

Director, Finance and Resources

Job Description

About Oxfordshire Community Foundation

Oxfordshire Community Foundation (OCF) is an independent charity that has been working to improve the lives of Oxfordshire's most disadvantaged people since 1995. We do this by bringing together people with the passion, resources and expertise to tackle the most pressing social problems facing our county. It means combining heart and head, using research and data to make sure good intentions turn into solid results. And it means creating collaborative partnerships so that no-one is doing it alone.

We are one of 46 community foundations in the UK, and over 1,800 similar foundations around the world.

Our work focuses on tackling the issues leading to homelessness, educational inequality and loneliness and isolation, with an emphasis on the most deprived communities in Oxfordshire.

Our achievements include:

- Gaining an in-depth understanding of these urgent problems, publishing research and insight reports e.g. Oxfordshire Uncovered that shine a light on the priority issues
- Building an unrivalled network of partnerships across the public, business and charity sectors that have started to collaboratively address the urgent social problems in our society
- Consulting members of the community for their views on the issues affecting them, and their ideas for practical solutions
- Stewarding over £13 million in philanthropic donations from a committed core of like-minded and generous individuals, families, businesses and trusts who want to pool their resources to help
- Giving £7.5 million in funding to over 1,500 charities and community groups that are improving people's lives in Oxfordshire and beyond
- Our flagship grants programme, Step Change Fund, through which we encourage investment that strengthens the infrastructure and capability of leading local charities, thus increasing their effectiveness and impact
- Investing nearly £5 million in our endowment fund, which ensures long-term stability to support our charitable activities.

We believe passionately that significantly more must be done to alleviate the social problems that blight Oxfordshire. We want to see a county where no-one has to sleep rough on the streets and everyone has a place to call home; where every child has the opportunity to thrive and fulfil their potential; and where no-one, young or old, has to experience the despair of loneliness, instead feeling a true sense of belonging to their community.

This will only be possible if OCF can dramatically scale up investment and people resources, and consequently the level and impact of the work we do. Achieving this will require a much more targeted focus on the priorities for change, and an absolute commitment to making a real and measurable difference to people's lives.

The challenges before us

Oxfordshire seems to many a place of great wealth, privilege and resources. However, if you scratch beneath the surface, you find that there are large numbers of people and even whole communities that are being left behind. We see homeless people sleeping rough on a cold night in Oxford. In many areas across the county, there are pockets of poverty that many people would find shocking, leading to dramatic differences in educational attainment. And there is an epidemic of loneliness affecting people young and old, especially in the county's many rural settings.

Therefore, with great urgency to inspire more place based giving, Oxfordshire Community Foundation (OCF) is embarking on a period of transformation and growth. With a new strategy and ambitious 12 Quarter Business Plan approved, the board and CEO are looking for a focused, experienced, strategic, new director level member of staff reporting to the CEO, to hold the organisation to account.

With experience scaling up an organisation as part of an executive management team, the F&R Director will have the skills, sensitivity, and personal confidence to both lead and build on the capabilities of a committed, bright, diverse and effective team.

As one of 46 community foundations across the UK, OCF seeks to play a proactive and influential role within UKCF our membership body, which will also involve the F&R Director in the implementation of larger scale projects measured against national objectives and collective goals.
